Five day workshop on

Employability Skills through Life Skill Approaches

Deen Dayal Upadhyay Kaushal Kendra, Central University of Himachal Pradesh is going to organize a five days Workshop on "Employability Skills through Life Skill Approaches" in collaboration with the Rajiv Gandhi National Institute of Youth Development (an Institute of National Importance) Regional Centre, Chandigarh.

The unemployment rate amongst the educated youths reportedly increased with increase in their education level. (Amongst all age groups' viz. 15-24 years, 18-29 years and 15-29 years). The Labour Bureau survey further shows that every one person out of three persons who is holding a graduation degree and above in the age group 15-29 years is found to be unemployed. These statistics are alarming for our country. While not all youth will assume traditional leadership roles as they grow older but they will all become the leaders of their own lives, shaper of their own destiny and master of their soul a job that demands leadership ability. In the past decade of development in the country, there has been growing recognition of the important role young people play in nation building. Historically, there exist varied accounts of young people's efforts to: foster world peace, secure independence of nations, build strong democracies and societies where citizens enjoy equal opportunities, innovate and support growth and robust economies, take actions in meeting the needs of people among many others. Young people continue to represent hope of their societies. In this regard the need of organising a workshop to gain knowledge and develop skill among the youth will be very vital to the higher educational institution.
